DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1 – 20 are pending.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 12 and 13 are objected to because of the following informalities: Both claims are dependent on claim 1, but are systems instead of methods and appear to repeat the limitations of claims 6 and 7. It is believed Applicant intended to make the claims dependent on claim 8 and the claims have been treated as such for the remainder of this Office Action. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 7, 13 and 16 contain the trademark/trade name J2EE Connector Architecture (JCA). Where a trademark or trade name is used in a claim as a limitation to identify or describe a particular material or product, the claim does not comply with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph. See Ex parte Simpson, 218 USPQ 1020 (Bd. App. 1982). The claim scope is uncertain since the trademark or trade name cannot be used properly to identify any particular material or product. A trademark or trade name is used to identify a source of goods, and not the goods themselves. Thus, a trademark or trade name does not identify or describe the goods associated with the trademark or trade name. In the present case, the trademark/trade name is used to identify/describe a type of connector and, accordingly, the identification/description is indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

4. Claims 8 – 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The language of the claims raises the question as to whether or not the claims can be implemented in software alone. It appears that the claims do not recite hardware to realize the functionality of the software. Therefore, the claims are rejected as being directed towards non-statutory subject matter because they appear to be claiming software, per se.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1 – 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Chandra et al. (US 2002/0138582 A1; hereinafter Chandra).

As to claims 1 – 7, Chandra teaches:

[claim 1] a method of providing a user interface for an application, the method comprising:

identifying a user interface template that implements a task pattern for a model class [¶ 394, 399-400];

identifying a model adapter that provides an interface for the application that conforms to the model class [¶ 399-400]; and creating a user interface for the application from the identified user interface template and the identified model adapter [¶ 294, 399-400], wherein:

[claim 2] the user interface template comprises a generic view and a generic controller [¶ 294, 318, 394, 399-400, 405];

[claim 3] the user interface template defines an abstract portlet, and wherein creating a user interface comprises creating a portlet instance that communicates with the application via the model adapter [¶ 368-370, 399-400];

[claim 4] creating a portlet instance comprises configuring the portlet instance using an application portlet builder portlet [¶ 428-432, 441-445];

[claim 5] identifying a user interface template, identifying a model adapter and creating a portlet instance are performed using an application portlet builder portlet [¶ 399-400, 441-445];

[claim 6] the model adapter provides a business object interface [¶ 620-621, 626]; and [claim 7] the model adapter is configured to communicate with the application via a J2EE Connector Architecture (JCA) connector [¶ 610-611].

As to claims 8 – 13, see the rejections of claims 1 – 4, 6 and 7.

As to claims 14 – 16, see the rejections of claims 1, 3, 6 and 7.

As to claims 17 – 20, see the rejections of claims 1 – 4.
